The partnership with SolidWater, a subsidiary of the Symunity Group, will see the distribution of AV Stumpfl's flagship media server platform, PIXERA, throughout the Philippines. In the future, Tokyo-based Symunity Group intends to work even closer with AV Stumpfls existing PIXERA distribution partner in South-East Asia.

A powerful media server system, PIXERA offers unparalleled performance and versatility for the creation and delivery of stunning visual experiences for film, visual attractions, live events and more.

Stephen Ho, SolidWater Inc.'s representative in the Philippines, welcomes the new partnership: "We are excited to bring AV Stumpfl's cutting-edge technology to our customers in the Philippines. The combination of PIXERA's advanced features and our local expertise will empower Filipino users to unleash their creativity and elevate their productions to new heights."

"We are thrilled to partner with AV Stumpfl, a globally recognised leader in media server technology," adds Symunity Group's David Oh. "This collaboration with AV Stumpfl reinforces our commitment to providing our customers in the region with the tools they need to create world-beating immersive experiences."

The new partnership marks a significant milestone in AV Stumpfl's global growth strategy, according to Horst Damoser, AV Stumpfl's global business development manager for PIXERA. "With the addition of the Philippine market, we are sending another strong signal of expansion to meet the increasing demand for PIXERA media servers on the Asian market," comments Damoser.
